

THE WORLD BY OUR INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE EIGHTEEN HOURS AHEAD OF MORNING

The Charleston Daily Courier

CHARLESTON, ILLINOIS, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1915.

EXPERT... THE... SIDE

PARALYSIS FATAL TO W. H. COCHRAN

Oct. 29, 1915. bearing these vital questions the Courier, I fairness would the other side world-old energy as much in-ferior, himself, any notwith-stand saying, the ing rivals. The this year yield and that is the any year in the try particular, as yet to sus- out the visible now in the face the asked to at an expense year to show either the very spectators. We eds of young cultural schools are they? If three million running farms know of them, Nat number, but as I know, the (Ches) are just tably named and further, ev- county that be by non-college off than any of I have had for out today, no of have, in and this year the others than any ed the and the ther, although it gain well (Mrs.) ad a woman lead to a "national" at the same de- All of which up in H. Don't milder of the education. No new too much, but look out for in a "national" a southerner. My right is a "southern" arners of Chas- in what a big a year salary, grapher and an message to ribe y to show them traitor, or good e to marry into our land, needs and finally, paper and time to give, but my while. When on a "southern" very "southern" class education, a higher level, almost every an object lesson. They have a career, a little a little better (John) that can

William H. Cochran, aged 75, a Civil war veteran and one of the best known citizens of Charleston, died at his home, 117 Monroe street at 7 o'clock this morning following a stroke of paralysis suffered a week ago today. Mr. Cochran had been in very good health considering his advanced age until a week ago when he was stricken with paralysis. He fell to the floor of his home at the foot of the stairs, his entire right side and speech center being affected. He did not regain consciousness before death and from the first his condition was extremely critical.

William H. Cochran was born in Lloyd county, Ind., near New Albany, September 4, 1841, and he spent the greater part of his life during the Civil war in that town. On September 4, 1862, he was united in marriage to Miss Catherine Roberts and when war was declared between the North and South he enlisted, becoming a member of the Fifty-third Indiana Volunteer Regiment, Company K. Mr. Cochran served the term of his country in 1863, but a year later he was discharged on account of disability. While in service he contracted a disease which left him partially blind. After being discharged, Mr. Cochran and his family moved to Charleston. Later he purchased a farm in the vicinity of Liberty and for many years he followed the occupation of a farmer. Twenty years ago he retired from the farm and since that time has made his home at 117 Monroe street.

Although he was not active in politics, Mr. Cochran was a strong republican and for many years he was a member of each section with a membership then Mr. Cochran. He regularly attended the meetings of the A. O. U. lodge and was a member of the First Methodist church of this city.

The deceased man was preceded in the grave by his wife, Mrs. Catherine Cochran, who died about seven years ago. Surviving are his sons, Charles, Fred, Max and Jesse, all of Charleston, and Charles, and Dudley of Chicago. One sister, who resides in a western state, also survives.

WHO ARE THEY?

The Courier's guessing contest "Who is It? and Who is It Not?" started in this evening's issue. The patrons and friends of The Courier have contributed a great number of old time photographs of relatives or friends which will be read fully. The descriptions that all who have photographs of well known citizens that were taken ten years ago to send them to this paper at once. Photograph No. 1. Today's photograph is the likeness of four men who were known here. The photos were taken about 17 years ago and should be easily recognized by their friends. The photograph was taken at the time that the men were together with young boys. Yes, it was someone that, too. You can see that by looking at the group. Notice what you are thinking up and think hard. Then call up the Courier, phone 24-27, and give your name and who you believe the photograph is. The names will be published in Wednesday evening's issue of the Courier. Photograph No. 2 will be published on Wednesday and will be as easy as the one. All get busy now, and telephone the names.

WHO ARE THEY?

from the Charleston (Illinois) Daily Courier

November 1915- January 1916

Coles County Genealogical Society
P. O. Box 592
Charleston, IL 61920
www.colescountyilgensoc.org
colescoiilgensoc75@gmail.com

CCGS GENEALOGY

es County Illinois Genealogical Society
naring Coles County Illinois Genealogy

977.372
WHO
c.2

CLOSET

ION ELECTIONS BEING HELD TODAY EXPLOSION IN POWDER MILL

... (International News Service) ... (International News Service) ...

1. Jerome Parker, Charles Roe, Harvey Shoots, Scott Dowling

Jerome Parker Charles Roe Harvey Shoots Scott Dowling

WHO ARE THEY?

The Courier's guessing contest "Who Is He? and Who Is She?" starts in this evening's issue. The patrons and friends of The Courier have contributed a great number of old time photographs of relatives or friends which will be run daily. The Courier asks that all who have photographs of well known citizens that were taken years ago to send them to this office at once.

ago, and should be easily recognized by their friends. The photograph was taken at the time that silk hats were popular with young men. Yes, it was summer time, too. You can see that by looking at the group. Better put on your thinking cap and think hard, then call up The Courier office, phone 83 or 78, and give your name and who you believe the five Photograph No. 1.

Today's photograph is the likeness of four men quite well known here. The picture was taken about 37 years men are. The names will be published in Wednesday evening's issue of The Courier. Photograph No. 2, will be published on Wednesday and will be as easy as this one. All get busy now, and telephone answers.

Charleston Daily Courier 2 Nov 1915

No. 1.

No one seemed to be able to guess the picture shown in Tuesday evening's issue of the Courier. It should have been easy as you will see by the following names:

Jerome (Boney) Parker was the man sitting in the chair. He was superintendent of streets of Charleston many years ago. From left to right the men were: Charles Roe. His father was engaged in the livery business here. The man in the center was Harvey Shoots who was a drayman, horse-buyer and in later years conducted a saloon here. The last man was Scott Dowling, head of the police force for several terms, and was city marshal at the time this picture was taken. All of the men are dead, Harvey Shoots, who was the last man to be called, died several years ago.

Charleston Daily Courier 3 Nov 1915

Jerome Bonapart "Boney" Parker Born abt 1826 Ohio or Kentucky. Died ? Charleston Superintendent of Streets. Billiard Pro. Married Sarah Jane Stroube 27 November 1850 in Bracken, Kentucky. Children: James P. Parker and Effie Jane (Parker) Dowling, wife of Winfield Scott Dowling.

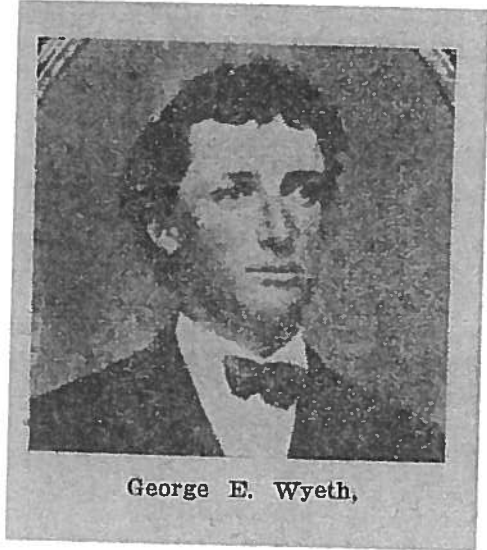

Found in Charleston, IL in 1860 Census with wife and children.

Charles Roe – Born 25 October 1853, Springfield, Illinois. Died 8 July 1932, San Angelo, Texas. Buried Robert Lee Cemetery, Coke County, Texas. Farmer. Trader. Son of William Henry and America Jane (Moore) Roe. Married Georgianna Russell abt 1879. Children: Ettie (Roe) Arnett, Lydia (Roe) Moreland, Lila (Roe) Ashley, Fred Row, Lee Ann (Roe) Stroud, Daniel Roe, Albert Roe, Effie (Roe) Daczka, and Charley J. (Roe) Harris.

102. George E Wyeth

George Ellis Wyeth – Born 2 September 1853, Coles County, IL. Died 23 May 1925, Charleston, IL. Buried Mound Cemetery. Grain Dealer. Wyeth and Hardin. Son of Albert and Angeline (Corris) Wyeth. Married Ina Bills (1861-1946) 17 May 1881, Douglas County, IL. Children: Iola M. Wyeth, Arthur B. Wyeth, and Elizabeth Ann (Wyeth) Flanders Hays.

George E. Wyeth,

No. 102.
One of the county's best known business men. He is at the head of a large and growing business. His family is prominent and he has made Charleston his home for a long time. This should be a hard proposition to the "Guess Who" fans and probably the man is at this moment reading his Daily Courier. He may be just as mystified as to who it is as you are. Don't let that bother you in making your guess.

Charleston Daily Courier 4, 5 Jan 1916

No. 102.
This likeness was that of George E. Wyeth, the well known grain dealer. The picture showed him when he was about 18 years old. He has been a resident of this city for over 30 years, and is the senior member of the firm of Wyeth & Hardin of Charleston. Correct guesses were registered by Mrs. Belle Sain, HI Perisho and Mrs. Cora Norfolk

WELL KNOWN COUNTY SEAT MAN IS DEAD

Special to The Journal-Gazette.
Charleston, Ill., May 23. — George E. Wyeth, 71, passed away at his home here at 3 o'clock this morning of complications. He had been sick for ten weeks.

The funeral will be held at the residence at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Rev. H. L. Hayes officiating. Burial will be in Mound cemetery.

Mr. Wyeth is survived by his wife and the following three children: Miss Ola Wyeth of Savannah, Ga., Mrs. Sam Hayes of Tulsa, Okla., and Arthur Wyeth of this city. Mrs. Cora Norfolk of this city is a sister.

Mr. Wyeth had lived in Charleston for more than forty years. He was widely known in this part of the state as a wholesale grain dealer and elevator man.

Yours for Grainage,
GEO. E. WYETH, Alderman.

Journal Gazette 23 May 1925