The Informed Librarian Online <<https://www.informedlibrarian.com>> is a current awareness service for librarians that keeps them on top of their professional reading and new developments in the field. As librarians, we are always on the lookout for new resources to acquire for our patrons, but sometimes we have to stop and consider our own professional needs!

The Informed Librarian Online <<https://www.informedlibrarian.com>> offers you the following benefits:

- 1.. Free searching of ILOSearch, our fully searchable index to library periodicals, with free saved searches- currently searches through 300,000+ articles in our index
2. Each month you would know all of the journals that came out during the previous month, be able to link to them, and read the full-text articles - currently tracking 300+ titles
3. NEW! Free access to full-text Emerald Publishing library journals, including backfiles
4. Access to all the features of the site - includes specially written, insightful, thought-provoking Guest Forum each month, Tech Talk article on an emerging technology, library profile article, endless number of featured articles (usually restricted to that journal's subscribers, but released for Informed Librarian members, from Emerald, Elsevier Scencedirect, Sage, Taylor and Francis, and IOS Press journals), and news and discounts on new books - value of $500+ per month
5. Each subscriber gets a monthly notification email of the new issue
6. The issues can be customized based on each subscriber's individual preferences
7. You have access at any time to the web site
8. RSS feed available each month
9. Access to specially written content including articles on current trends in libraries, and profiles of libraries around the world. We also feature a new monthly technology article.
10. Most importantly, you are part of a community of librarians from all around the world who value their profession and continue to develop and enhance their professional knowledge.
